Dear Gris,

Many thanks for your great kindness in Xeroxing the proceedings of the Forensic Science Assn. Leaving on a trip in a day and I started to staple it together so I could read it on the train when I noticed it is incomplete. Pages 27-287, inc., are missing. If you could possibly send them I'd be grateful.

I'll also give copies of your article to those interested.

I agree with you on Wecht. We've been in correspondence.

Sparrow is here to engaged in propaganda. Your papers may have what those here do not. If you see anything on that learned fink who acts like an average student (CIA, that is), I'd appreciate it.

What you report of McCarthy did not appear in the papers I get. I'm glad to know of it and would appreciate a copy if it is no burden. I quite agree with your appraisal. I'll try and get through to him after I get back from the two scheduled trips. I've got to go to NYC Monday a.m. because I promised to make a speech there. My wife sprained her ankle badly. It is still in a cast. I hate to leave her, even with a "baby sitter", but I must because these people advertised it. Then, right after I get back, I've got to go to N.O. again. Jim just asked me to help with some things I've been working on.

One of the more rewarding aspects of my last trips to California was the new potency of my verbal LSD. Turned quite a few people on, including Lawrence Howard. Rather a switch that your weekly editor (whose name I am ashamed to say slips me at the moment) might be interested in. Here is a man who went to court in a successful effort to frustrate Jim's subpoena. Then I interview him and he asks me to go to N.O. with him-voluntarily! When he didn't have to! Now that he is back (Steve Burton went with him instead because I couldn't) and says he found Garrison a "very nice man" and thinks his investigation is going in the right direction!

Naturally, of course, this was almost entirely suppressed. I saw two brief items in the New Orleans papers.

Back to my too-long career as a housewife. Again, many thanks, and best regards to everyone.

By the way, Penn and Roger Craig are really doing a job in California!

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
